Local Psychologist and Executive Coach Earns Distinction of Excellence in Practice

Local psychologist, Dr. Lee M. Faver, has earned a Diplomate in Clinical Psychology from The American Board of Professional Psychology (ABPP). Only 1300 psychologists in the US have board certification in clinical psychology. This distinguishes Dr. Faver from other mental health professionals and attests to his expertise.

The American Board of Professional Psychology (ABPP) exam is the only test assessing competence and ethical practice of psychologists. The examination focuses on actual clinical skills and effectiveness, and is neither a credential review like the National Register nor a test of academic knowledge like the licensing exam. Dr. Faver demonstrated his ability and expertise to a panel of nationally recognized psychologists who reviewed multiple videos of his work and administered to Dr. Faver a rigorous oral exam.

Board certification in clinical psychology connotes specialty competency, and it is the only board certification recognized by the 156,000-member American Psychological Association or the National Register of Psychologists.

Dr. Faver maintains a full time psychotherapy practice. He is the founder of Success@Work, an executive development firm specializing in one on one leadership, management and career development.

Prior to starting Success@Work (www.successatwork.net), he consulted for numerous local organizations. Dr. Faver has been recognized by the American Psychological Association for this expertise and the quality of the various therapy, sexuality and HIV prevention training programs he conducts. His devotion to HIV prevention includes 7 years as a consultant at AIDS Community Services, where he helped develop risk reduction programs. He previously authored a column in a local publication and has appeared on AM Buffalo (Channel 7).

Dr. Faver holds a bachelor degree from the State University of New York at Binghamton and a doctorate at the University of Buffalo.
